TAX CUTS, LABOR LAWS LEAD GOP 'MUST' LIST

Court Sets Up 4-Member Board For TB Hospital

Four Mansfield men today were appointed as members of the special building commission which will work with the county commissioners in construction of the proposed new $400,000 county tuberculosis sanatorium.

Appointed by Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, the men are Dr. John S. Hattery, Charles J. Stecker, Dr. Paul A. Stoodt and John C. O'Donnell.

DR. JOHN S. HATTERY

JOHN C. O'DONNELL

CHARLES J. STECKER

DR. PAUL A. STOODT

Under the law, the four appointees will serve, with the county commissioners, as the agency officially in charge of the construction project. The law provides that not more than two of the four appointees may be of the same political party.

Dr. Hattery and Stecker are Republicans and Dr. Stoodt and O'Donnell are the Democratic members.

Organizes Later.

No date has been set as yet for organization of the new commission and election of its officers. The men must first be sworn into office and post bond for the faithful performance of their duties as commission members.

Dr. Hattery, currently a member of the advisory board of the county tuberculosis sanatorium, has been a practicing physician here for 31 years. A native of Celina, he came to Mansfield in 1915. He is a graduate of the Ohio State University Medical school and a former member of the Mansfield board of education.

Dr. Stoodt, a native of Mansfield, has practiced medicine here for 15 years. A graduate of the Western Reserve University Medical school, he served in the Army Air Force in World War II for three years.

O'Donnell is an attorney in the Mansfield law firm of Anderson, Will and O'Donnell. He is a former acting county prosecutor. Stecker is clerk of the Mansfield city council.

SOHNGEN TAKES OATH OF OFFICE

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Robert M. Hohngen of Hamilton became Ohio's 114th Ohio supreme court justice during solemn ceremonies in the tribunal's chambers today.

The oath of office was administered by Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt.

Sohngen, who resigned as state liquor director yesterday to accept Gov. Frank J. Lausche's appointment to succeed the late Roy H. Williams of Sandusky, repeated the oath surrounded by his new colleagues.

After administering the oath, Chief Justice Weygandt told Sohngen it is a sobering experience to share the challenging responsibility for saying the last word as to the law in the administration of evenhanded justice for the nearly seven million of this state.

"We . . . welcome you and wish for you the pleasing and enduring satisfaction that is certain to come from the faithful discharge of the new duties of your high office."

Sohngen, 59-year-old attorney, will serve until Dec. 31, 1948, the remainder of Judge Williams' six-year term.

PEASANT PARTY PLANS TO VOTE

WARSAW —(INS)— The policy Peasant party, chief opposition to the government democratic bloc, today abandoned plans for a threatened boycott and decided to participate in the Jan. 19 elections.

The decision came after a six-hour meeting of the central committee of the party which is led by Vice Premier Stanislaw Mikolajcyzk. The vote in favor of taking part was unanimous.

Party supporters, however, were called upon to stay away from the polls in 10 out of 52 election districts where the list of Peasant party candidates has been rejected.

Mikolajczyk charged that 110 Peasant party candidates in the general election are held by police on various charges. He claimed also that only 21 Peasant party candidates were being permitted to run in Poland's 52 constituencies.

OFFICE WORKERS ASK PAY BOOST

Negotiations were under way today at Pittsburgh for a 16 per cent pay boost for certain salaried workers of the Westinghouse Electric corporation.

W. D. Cochran, president of the Mansfield unit of the Westinghouse Association of Salaried Employes, said about 80 Mansfield employes would be effected by the negotiations.

The two-day conference at Pittsburgh marks the first 1947 Westinghouse pay negotiations.

The Associated Press quoted Leo F. Bollens, president of the Federation of Westinghouse Independent Salaried unions, as saying a 16 per cent wage increase was being asked.

George Braen, president of Local 759, UERMWA-CIO, another Westinghouse salaried workers group, said the Pittsburgh meeting would not deal with pay scales of members of his local.

PRESSES IDLE

PARIS—(INS)—A strike of rotary pressmen halted publication today of morning newspapers in Paris. The only papers to appear on the streets were the English language Herald Tribune and Daily Mail.

RESTAURANT PRICES SKID IN CITY; SALADS, DESSERTS OFFERED WITH MEALS

Here's encouraging news for Mansfield's "eat-out" population. Several restaurants have sliced prices; others are including salads and desserts in the original meal price, and a few are contemplating cutting prices within a week.

Causes for the cut-back on the dollars and cents side of the menu are the abundance of meat and keener competition among eating places, restaurant managers said today.

But "diner-outers" will have to scout around to find the lower prices. A good many of the restaurants reported no cut. Some said they never raised their prices — "even when they could."

The environment of the place hasn't made any difference on the drop in prices. You can sit on a stool and get a $1.50 dinner complete with the trimmings, or sit at a table covered with a spotless white cloth.

The usual drop on meals seems to be five to ten cents. One restaurant, which never included dessert with the main course, has added dessert and salad besides marking down its rates.

For the most part, the cutbacks were noted on all meats, with the exception of pork, and seafoods.

One manager who said he had more business now than during the war marked his steaks and chops down 25 to 45 cents. On Sundays he'll include dessert with the menu price.

CITY'S HOTELS PLANNING FEW RATE INCREASES

Only Two Say They'll Boost Charges After Feb. 15.

Release of rent ceilings on rooms rented on a day-to-day basis in hotels, tourist homes and motor courts today opened the way for higher prices at the city's hotels after Feb. 15 when the action becomes effective.

However, the management of only two of the city's transient-commercial establishments, the Fairview and the Brunswick, indicated they planned increases in rates.

E. W. Schmutzler, president of the Hotel Fairview, Inc., said that the hotel's daily rates "must be raised at least 20 percent to get the same return as in 1939."

Schmutzler said that an increase in rates was necessary "due to the fact that release of ceilings on everything that goes into the upkeep of a hotel has raised the cost from 18 to 200 per cent."

Schmutzler said he's had a 30 percent increase in the cost of laundry service; a 52½ percent hike in soap costs; a $17 per dozen boost in sheets and a $4.30 increase per ton in coal since 1939.

Leo Keffalas, assistant manager of the DeSoto hotel, and Mrs. Ray H. Pierce, manager of the Southern hotel, said they had been granted daily rate increases recently by OPA on the strength of remodeling done in the rooms. Neither said they would raise their rates.

Eugene C. Ozier, manager of the Mansfield-Leland the city's largest hotel, said the hotel doesn't plan to raise the prices of transient rooms in the immediate future.

Operators of hotels, tourist homes and motels were warned today by George H. Blecker, director of the area rent control office, that certain requirements still must be met.

First requirement, Blecker said, is that supplemental registration forms must be completed and returned to the rent control office. The office then determines whether the establishment is a transient hotel and subject to the decontrol regulations. Definition of a transient hotel, Blecker added, is an establishment with 25 or more guest rooms.

The new regulations can not apply until the hotel, tourist home or motel operator files petition for decontrol with the rent office.

The decontrol move doesn't apply to hotel rooms rented to permanent guests on a weekly or monthly basis. Neither does it affect hotels in areas where rents are controlled by local or state laws.

COMPILES DEATH TOLL

YOKOHAMA—(AP)—The U. S. Eighth Army in a final report estimated today that nearly 1,600 Japanese were killed, a similar number were injured, and more than 150,000 were made homeless by the recent earthquake and tidal wave.

Burglars Visit Village Schools

Thieves last night burglarized the Butler and Bellville village schools. They rifled most of the teachers' desks, broke several windows, stole a small radio and a small amount of money, superintendents of the two institutions reported to sheriff's deputies today.

At the Butler school the thieves stole a small radio belonging to Custodian Richard Wilson who discovered the burglary at 6 a. m. today.

The glass was broken in four doors in the Butler school before the intruders gained entrance to Supt. E. H. Rider's office and class rooms. Rider reported 20 cents was missing from his desk drawer.

At the Bellville school, one window was broken. A check by teachers disclosed only a few cents missing, D. D. Rummel, reported.

Entry was gained sometime after 9:30 p. m. Wednesday when the building was locked following a vocational agriculture meeting. The burglary was discovered at 8 a. m. today by Custodian Carl Heller.

Both schools were burglarized also last year, deputies recalled.

On Dec. 4 burglars stole $70 from the Bellville school. On April 9, burglars with an appetite stole $22 after drinking four quarts of milk and frying 21 hamburgers in the Butler school.

SENATE AWAITS POLICY OUTLINE

WASHINGTON —(UP)— Incoming Secretary of State George C. Marshall will be called to Capitol Hill to outline his foreign policy views before he leaves for the Moscow conference, it was learned today.

Senate foreign relations committeemen indicated interest in questioning him on subjects ranging from relations with Russia to Western hemisphere defense policies.

The senate confirmed Marshall as successor to James F. Byrnes in dramatic and speedy fashion yesterday, dispensing even with committee hearings. Senate President Arthur H. Vandenberg, R., Mich., said the prompt action should assure the world that the cabinet change would not alter our bi-partisan foreign policy.

Nevertheless, influential members said the senate's action, while a resounding vote of confidence in Marshall, was not necessarily a "blank check" policy endorsement. Hence their desire to meet with him in person soon. The Moscow foreign ministers conference is set for March 10.

PLAN PRIVATE RITES FOR MRS. BROMFIELD

Private funeral services for Mrs. Annette Coulter Bromfield, mother of author-farmer Louis Bromfield, will be held at an undisclosed date in the spring at the Malabar farm cemetery. The body is to be cremated.

Mrs. Bromfield died late Tuesday at the home of her noted son at the age of 84.

Memorial services are scheduled for Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. at the Grace Episcopal church. Rev. Samuel U. J. Peard will officiate. Arrangements are in charge of the Finefrock funeral home.

Besides her son with whom she made her home, Mrs. Bromfield is survived by another son, Charles, of New York City; one grandson, John Mauger, of Chicago, and three granddaughters, Hope, Ellen and Anne Bromfield of Malabar.

QUEEN SETS RECORD

LONDON — (UP) — The liner Queen Elizabeth docked at Southampton today at 1:30 a. m. (8:30 p. m. Wednesday EST), four days, 11 hours and 24 minutes after leaving New York, a new record between the cities.

WORLD AFFAIRS MEETING OPENS

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The Institute on World Affairs began its 21st annual meeting today—a three-day session dedicated to programs for lasting peace.

Ezequiel Padilla, former Mexican foreign minister and a recent candidate for president of his country, was the speaker at the luncheon opening the meeting.

An address by retiring Secretary of State James F. Byrnes Saturday night will highlight the institute meeting, of which Time Magazine is co-sponsor. He is scheduled to speak on foreign affairs.

The speech — the first since Byrnes resigned—will be carried over a nationwide network by the National Broadcasting company from 10 to 10:30 p. m. (EST).

Editor Henry Luce of Time Magazine, co-sponsor of the institute, will open the first "report from the world" forum tonight with an address on Far Eastern affairs.

Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, Chinese ambassador to the United States and the first signer of the United Nations charter at the San Francisco meeting, Secretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal and Dr. Henry P. Van Dusen, president of New York's Union Theological seminary, will conclude the institute's first program.

MONEY BILL AWAITS HERBERT SIGNATURE

COLUMBUS — (AP) — One of Thomas J. Herbert's first official acts after becoming governor next Monday will be to sign legislation releasing pay checks to state employes and officials — including himself.

Representatives yesterday approved appropriation of $109,258,621 to operate the state government and pay salaries until July 1 and then knocked off for the weekend.

The vote on the sixth-month partial appropriations bill was unanimous. It followed by only a day similar action by senators in the new legislative session begun Jan. 6.

HOUSE LEADER SERVES NOTICE ON PRESIDENT

Kuntsen Insists U. S. Budget Should Be Trimmed to 29 Billion.

WASHINGTON — (INS)— Rep. Knutson (R., Minn.), chairman of the tax-writing house ways and means committee, served notice today in advance of President Truman's budget message tomorrow that congress intends to force a further reduction in government expenditures.

Knutson declared that if the president submits to congress a thirty-seven billion dollar budget, as has been reported, "We'll cut it to twenty-nine billion dollars."

Similar sentiments were voiced by Rep. Taber (R., N. Y.), chairman of the house appropriations committee. Knutson and Taber will meet shortly after the budget has been received with their opposites in the senate, along with other members of the four committees, to set the limit on government expenditures.

* * *

Report Due Feb. 15.

The reorganization act provides that the joint group shall report to congress by Feb. 15 its recommendation for a federal budget for the 1948 fiscal year beginning July 1.

Knutson flatly predicted also that "we will cut taxes" despite the president's recommendations, twice made to congress this week, that "it would be unsound fiscal policy to reduce taxes."

The Republican leader commented:

"I cannot agree with the president's conclusions. Tax reduction will give a further impetus to business and will mean increased revenue."

* * *

'Go Slow' Policy Urged.

Sentiment among Democrats in the senate, however, was to go slow on tax reductions until a clearer picture is given to the entire fiscal situation. Sen. Byrd (D., Va.), a leading advocate of government economy, agreed with the president that taxes should not be reduced.

Meanwhile, there was strong support in congress for accepting Mr. Truman's recommendation for extension of rent controls beyond June 30, when they otherwise would expire. Rep. Wolcott (R., Mich.), chairman of the house banking and currency committee, warned that removal of rent controls would bring "chaos" as long as the housing shortage existed.

Indications were that the president's request for immediate action on "non-partisan housing legislation" would not be met. Wolcott said he opposed certain provisions of the Wagner-Ellender-Taft housing bill, which passed only the senate last year, despite the president's recommendation that it be enacted into law.

COLD WAVE KILLS 17

HAMBURG —(INS)— The fuel committee of the Hamburg city council reported today that 17 persons have frozen to death in the sub-zero cold wave.

Scoop! Red — Papers Tell It—Finally

MOSCOW—(INS)—The Soviet press only today got around to publishing the fact that Secretary of State James F. Byrnes had resigned his post.

The 10-line item, carried under the signature of the Soviet Tass agency said that a White House announcement revealed that Gen. George C. Marshall would be appointed to succeed Byrnes.

The Tass dispatch added that an exchange of letters between Byrnes and President Truman had been published by the White House.

RENT OFFICIALS BACK CONTROLS

Residential Restrictions Are to Continue Despite Freeing of Hotel Room Prices.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Rent control officials plan to hold the line on present residential rents, despite removal of ceilings on transient hotel rooms and motor courts starting Feb. 15.

A spokesman for the Office of Temporary Controls said today that only congressional action can bring total rent decontrol or a general residential increase.

The agency maintains that present regulations are completely in keeping with the provisions of the price control extension act.

The statement was made after OTC told operators of hotel, motor courts and tourists homes that they can start applying for removal of ceilings on their transient rooms on Feb. 1.

Individual decontrol actions will begin Feb. 15 for landlords which have forwarded lists of rooms rented to permanent guests on weekly on monthly basis. These rooms will remain under rent controls.

Offers No Estimate.

The OTC was not prepared to estimate the number of rooms to be decontroled under the action, but it is believed to be several million.

Hotel men greeted their new freedom with enthusiasm. They predicted room rates would rise "in direct relation to increased costs" since the ceiling freeze period of March, 1943.

From a spokesman for the nation's realtors, however, came a charge of "political hokum."

Herbert U. Nelson, executive vice president of the National Association of Real Estate boards, declared that apartment owners had just as much or more need for rent relief.

Italian Premier Visits Chicago

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Alcide de Gasperi, Italian premier, left Washington this morning for Chicago to continue his American visit seeking economic and political aid for his home land.

Before boarding his plane de Gasperi said that "an excellent beginning has been made in economic aid for Italy from the United States."

NEW MEASURES SEEK TO CURB UNION POWERS

Jan. 20 Fixed as 'Outside' Date to Open Hearings on Proposed Bills.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senate and house leaders today set Jan. 20 as the "outside" date to start hearings on proposed new labor laws.

The idea at both ends of the capitol is the same—to turn out some kind of a bill that will tighten the screws a bit on labor unions and discourage strikes that paralyze business.

Dozens of labor bills already have been introduced by individual lawmakers. Rep. Case (R-SD) planned to outline a new strike control measure today. Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich), a labor committee member, has still another on tap for tomorrow.

The new Case bill is expected to be fully as far reaching, and perhaps more restrictive, than the one he backed last year. It was killed by a presidential veto.

In the senate, Senator Ball (R-Minn) put forward a new measure to outlaw the closed shop. It would make illegal all provisions in any present or future contract requiring a person to be a union member to get or hold a job.

* * *

Taft Aids On Bill.

But senate hearings probably will center first on a bill which Ball helped write, along with Chairman Taft (R-Ohio) of the labor committee and Senator H. Alexander Smith (R-NY). An expanded version of the old Case bill, it is the senate's top labor measure.

Senator Murray (D-Mont), former chairman, told a reporter he had sounded out Democratic colleagues on getting hearings under way Jan. 20. Now he expects to put it up to Taft.

Chairman Hartley (R-NJ) of the house labor committee said he plans to start hearings "by the 20th at the latest." There was a possibility, he said, the committee might get under the wire with them next week.

After talks with house Republican leaders, Hartley plans to introduce a labor bill of his own as the basis for the hearings.

Offers Ideas.

Some of his own ideas are to:

Force organized labor to be as responsible as management for living up to contracts.

Outlaw jurisdictional disputes.

Forbid mass picketing and intimidation and coercion in strikes.

Guarantee that a worker who wants to work "won't have his brains beaten out."

Restore the right of free speech to employers—so they can tell their hands what they think of joining unions.

In addition, Hartley told a reporter, serious consideration will have to be given the question of making anti-trust laws apply to labor unions and to preventing strikes in public utilities, transportation, mines and other fields closely linked with the public welfare.

F. H. CAMPAIGN STILL LAGGING

Donations in the Friendly House campaign inched up to $42,133 today as mail contributions dropped off in the $60,000 drive which ends next Wednesday.

Paul Endriss, general campaign chairman, again urged donors to either mail or deliver their campaign gifts to the campaign headquarters at the R. E. Moorhead showrooms, Park avenue west.

Included in today's contributions were gifts from the Child Conservation club, $10; Ven-Mar-Ket, $300; Prince's Sandwich shop, $25; Saprano Cigar store, $30; Stuhldreher Floral company, $25; Sutter Candy company, $25; and the Finefrock funeral home, $50.

The goal must be reached by Jan. 15 to qualify for a 70 percent donation to the building fund by Mansfield manufacturers. Estimated cost of the new settlement house is $235,000.

CONSIDERS 'CLOSED SHOP'

DOVER, Del—(INS)—Delaware's new legislature today considered a recommendation by Gov. Walter W. Bacon to outlaw the "closed shop" in the state.

MALE QUARTET GIVES PROGRAM IN CITY

Mansfield Civic Music patrons have a vocal treat in store for them tonight with the appearance of the National Male Quartet at John Simpson auditorium.

The third in this season's series of concerts will be given at 8 p. m.

The singers' repertoire includes familiar classics, American ballads three centuries old and selections from outstanding modern composers.

All four vocalists are well known in concert halls throughout the country. Attilio Baggiore and Giulio Gari made their operatic debuts at the Teatro Reale dell 'Opera in Rome. Baggiore has since sung leading roles with the Chicago Opera company. Gari has appeared with the opera companies of New York City Center St. Louis, and Cincinnati.

The careers of the baritone and bass, Vernon Sanders and Bruce MacKay, also are similar. Both made their operatic debuts with the San Francisco Opera company and sang six months of Gilbert and Sullivan repertory in the same city.

INTEREST MOUNTS IN BANQUET SECRET— WHO'LL BE MOST VALUABLE PLAYERS

Interest mounted today in the big secret of the 11th annual News-Journal football banquet.

Who will be the most valuable players chosen by their teammates on Mansfield Senior and Madison high school football squads?

They will be announced at the big banquet Monday night and presented with most valuable player trophies by Herb Smith, president of the Tyger Booster club, on behalf of the News-Journal.

The players of both schools will be the guests of honor at what Fred Tharp, general chairman, described as the "most pretentious post-season gridiron affair in the history of Mansfield scholastic sports."

* * *

THERE'LL BE SEATS, AND a well-rounded menu of food, for 800 persons at the banquet tables in the North Lake Park coliseum.

Plans are complete to accommodate that many as the deadline for the sale of tickets approaches.

Students of Senior and Madison high schools have their last chances to buy tickets Friday. Other followers of the football Tygers and Rams may purchase tickets at the low price of $2, through Saturday at City News, Brown's Drug Store, News-Journal, Sutter's and Tawse Pharmacy.

THE MOST valuable player announcements are only a part of the program. The principal speaker will be none other than one of America's foremost after-dinner speakers—famed Bo McMillin, the Indiana coach.

Bo, who won All-America football honors when he played quarterback for little Centre college years ago, is the dean among Western conference gridiron teachers.

Individual members of both of the Senior High and Madison football squads will be presented with their 1946 letters by their coaches, Paul Snyder and Jeff DeHaven, respectively. Senior football players will receive gold football from Sam Fox, jeweler.

McMillin will show color pictures of the thrill-packed Indiana-Nebraska football game.

FLOYD DENT, chairman of the program committee, announced this morning that R. J. "Bob" Alander, General Manager of the News-Journal, would act as toastmaster.

The menu prepared by the banquet committee — Ed Sutter, Bob Hayes and D. K. Woodman—includes: swiss steak, escalloped potatoes, tossed salad, chocolate cake, rolls and coffee. It will be served steaming hot at the Coliseum from Westinghouse roasters.

MILLIONS PUT INTO BATTLE AGAINST POLIO

National Foundation Funds Aid in Research.

(By United Press)

Since 1938, the national foundation for infantile paralysis has granted or set aside more than $6,000,000 for scientific research leading to the prevention or cure of poliomyelitis.

Virtually all of this money has been made available to various universities, medical schools and hospitals throughout this nation and is being used by scientists to study every phase of the disease.

Typical of the type of grantees, the amount they have received and the work they are doing follows:

University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Mich. Here the scientists are seeking to develop laboratory methods for use by epidemiologists who are attempting to trace how the infantile paralysis virus is transmitted from patient to patient, to improve methods for detection of the virus, and the development of immunity. Grants, since 1938, $483,580.82.

University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis. Scientists here are attempting to determine the relationship of nutrition to susceptibility to infantile paralysis to determine the effect of the amount and kind of food eaten on the possibility of contracting the disease. Studies of the nutritional requirements of monkeys and other experimental animals are being made so that the nutrition of these animals can be controlled more effectively when they are used in research studies. Grants, since 1938, $147,500.

University of Minesota, Minneapolis: workers here have studied the physiological problems concerned with infantile paralysis and methods of treating it. They also are studying the mechanism by which the virus of poliomyelitis interferes with the use of glucose by nerve cells. With the largest collection of human research material from a single epidemic on hand, the Minnesota scientists are planning a new series of experiments. Grants, since 1939, $612,326.67.

The University of California, George Williams Hooper foundation, San Francisco: many trained workers at this university are trying to find out how infections with the polio virus and similar diseases are spread. They are also working to develop much needed, dependable yet rapid tests for diagnosis. Grants, since 1938, $214,364.35.

Stanford university, Palo Alto, Cal. Scientists here are working on procedures for concentrating, purifying and determining the chemical nature of the virus. This could lead to an effective vaccine. Grants since 1939, $47,403.16.

Michael Reese research foundation, Chicago: in this laboratory workers are testing the efficacy of vaccines prepared by ultraviolet irradiation, and have reported some success in experimental animals. Grants since 1943, $20,598,000.

'UGH' BECOMES 'HOW MUCH?' IN A HURRY

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—(UP)—"Ugh," was the reply of an elderly Indian when asked by Giles L. Mathews, chief field deputy for the collector of internal revenue, how much he had earned.

Another "ugh" provided an answer to the question as to how much did the Indian raise or sell.

"You'll have to tell me," Mathews insisted. "Maybe you have a refund coming."

"How much, and when do I get it?" demanded the Indian.

DEVICE SPOTS ENGINE ILLS

DETROIT —(U.P.)— New engine trouble spotting devices enabling flight engineers to tell ground crews just what repairs are needed will save airlines thousands of dollars a year, the annual meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers was told today.

The instruments can detect and locate operating difficulties while the plane is in flight and will eliminate the trial-and-error system of trouble-shooting by mechanics, speakers said.

Last night's principal speaker, Secretary of Commerce W. Averell Harriman, proposed the expansion of social security programs as one means of avoiding serious depressions in America.

In an address on "Free Enterprise and the Future," Harriman said the United States should "pursue a courageous lending policy, through both private and public agencies, to assist other countries to buy American products."

SAE President-elect C. E. Frudden of Milwaukee, Wis., who also spoke last night, said the American tractor and related automotive equipment are helping feed both America and the world. He said the tractors released 50,000,000 acres of crop land to meet the human need.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Bedtime Stories

—By Thornton W. Burgess

That is Mother Nature's way of pointing to the truth of the old saying you have often heard: "It is an ill wind that blows no one good." A thing is good or bad according to who looks at it and the point of view. So what is good for one may be bad for another, and, of course, the other way around. So it seldom is safe to say a thing is all good or all bad, the chances are that it is good and bad.

The Green Meadows and the Green Forest were covered with snow and the snow was covered with a hard crust. Almost every day rough Brother North Wind blew, and his breath was bitterly cold.

"It is a hard, hard winter," said Lightfoot the Deer.

"I'll say it is. I never have known a harder one," agreed Reddy Fox.

"It is, indeed," said Mrs Grouse. "For days I have had nothing to eat but buds picked from the trees." She was keeping a discreet distance from Reddy Fox.

"You are lucky to have had those. For days I have had nothing at all to eat, or hardly anything," said Reddy, meaning to be honest.

"I have flown through the Green Forest and over the Old Pasture and Green Meadows, and up the Big River and down the Big River until I am too tired to lift my wings again; still I havent' had enough to eat," croaked Blacky the Crow.

Yowler the Bobcat and his cousin, Tufty the Lynx, would have agreed with the others had they been there. So would have Hooty the Great Horned Owl and his big cousin from the Far North, Whitey the Snowy Owl, and several others. They were hungry most of the time for food was scarce or hard to find, and hunting for it was hard work, tiresome work. No wonder they could see no good in this weather.

At that very time, down under the crust, Danny Meadow Mouse and Nanny Meadow Mouse were running about happily in little tunnels they and their neighbors in the grass of the Green Meadows had dug in the snow.

"Isn't it wonderful to be able to run about as we please without having to keep watch for danger?" squeaked Nanny.

"It is the best time of all the year because it is the safest time," squeaked Danny. All the Mice on the Green Meadows felt the same way. They had no trouble getting plenty to eat and as long as they kept in their tunnels and homes below that hard crust there was little or nothing to worry about.

In their pond deep in the Green Forest it was much the same with Paddy the Beaver and Mrs. Beaver. They had plenty of food stored under the ice that covered their pond; their big house in the pond was snug and warm and comfortable, and the bitter cold had frozen the roof so hard that no one could break into it. They had nothing to fear from Tufty the Lynx or Yowler the Bobcat or Old Man Coyote.

It was much the same with Jerry Muskrat and Mrs. Jerry in the icebound Smiling Pond. They had no trouble swimming under the ice to dig their food from the mud of the bottom of the Smiling Pool, and while the ice kept them locked in the Smiling Pool it also kept their enemies locked out. They never felt so safe as in such weather as this.

Over in the Green Forest Chatterer the Red Squirrel had nuts and seeds and dried mushrooms stored where he could get them no matter what the weather. He didn't mind the cold. It made him feel frisky. And when rough Brother Wind was too rough and brought snow or sleet, and when Jack Frost pinched too hard, Chatterer just curled up in his warm bed and slept.

Even Peter Rabbit didn't mind too much. He might grumble over having little but bark and tender twigs of certain young trees and bushes to eat, but he didn't go hungry. And as long as he stayed in the dear Old Briarpatch he was as safe as ever.

So to some this was a bad winter and to others this very same winter was a good winter. Many things in life are like that.

Maya-speaking tribes of northern Guatemala and Yucatan, who existed until shortly before the discovery of America, developed a calendar system more exact than any used in Europe until the Gregorian reform.

Farm Extension Service Reached Thousands In Richland County In Past Year, Report Shows

Richland county's agricultural extension service had one of its biggest years in 1946 when thousands of adults and hundreds of youngsters participated in a program that touched nearly every phase of rural living.

That was revealed in the annual report of County Agent George B. Ganyard who, with the aid of Miss Mabel Spray, home demonstration agent, and Byron Bricker, emergency farm labor assistant, helped rural residents with problems that ranged from expenditure of time and energy by housewives to providing plans for capital farm improvements.

* * *

STATISTICS IN THE REPORT show the county agent spent 225 days on adult work, 64 days on 4-H club activities and 98 evenings on extension work. Fifty-five days were spent in the field.

Miss Spray spent 181 days on adult work, 87 in 4-H club programs and 100 of them were in the field.

The office handled 2,456 office calls, 1,612 telephone calls, 445 farm and home visits. More than 3,660 bulletins were distributed and 1,088 persons attended 30 leader-training meetings. Some 819 persons attended 48 method demonstration meetings and 6,101 people attended 142 other miscellaneous meetings at which agents participated.

* * *

IN THE YOUTH PROGRAM there were 253 boys and 405 girls participating in the work of 45 4-H clubs. Four hundred and two of the youngsters were given health examinations, 141 boys and 316 girls completed 533 4-H projects and 11members represented Richland county in state fair contests. Thirtyseven demonstrations were given at the county junior fair.

Created by act of congress in 1941, the agricultural extension service is jointly by the Ohio State university, the U. S. department of agriculture and the Richland county commissioners.

The service's function is to help rural families and communities to recognize and define their problems and then to help them develop plans and procedures by which the problems may be solved.

* * *

ASSISTED BY A COUNTY-wide committee of rural leaders, the extension service during the past year aided rural residents in such tasks as:

Farm marketing in Richland county, leadership training, dairy breeding and production testing programs, home furnishing and food preservation, poultry business analyses, insect and disease control and cultural practices for fruit and vegetable growers, soil testing, variation and rotation of crops, application of lime and fertilizers, pond and drainage construction, securing forest seedlings and the selecting and cutting of timber, land use planning, and testing pressure cooker gauges and the cleaning and adjusting of sewing machines.

In addition to its educational activities, the service aided in the job of recruiting, training and placing of farm labor during the war and through 1946. Requests for help and information on a wide variety of problems were received and handled.

NATIONS FOOD BROKERS SEE LOWER PRICES DUE

CHICAGO —(AP)— The men who are among the best informed about food prices, the brokers on the country's commodity exchange markets, think prices will go lower.

You can buy some butter today on the Chicago Mercantile exchange for delivery in June at about 53 cents a pound. That's around 22 cents under present wholesale prices.

For the person who just wants some butter to spread on bread a purchase for June delivery wouldn't be practical—you'd have to take 19,200 pounds, which is the amount represented by a "futures" contract.

Significance of that 53-cent price, however, is that it is today's best guess of the butter and egg men on what the wholesale price will be this summer.

In nearly all markets in which food is traded for future delivery, a similar trend is shown. Eggs are a single exception. In most cases, the more distant the delivery, the lower the price.

Take wheat, which is basic for flour, bread, macaroni and other foods. It's cash price at Chicago is around $2.20 a bushel. If you buy for March delivery, it's $2.04. For July it's $1.79.

Santos coffee will cost 26 cents a pound for delivery in January but only 23 cents for next December. Cash cotton is about 33 cents a pound. But cotton bought for delivery in March, 1948, is under 27 cents.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

PAGE FOUR MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, JANUARY 9, 1947

New York's municipal budget is approaching a billion dollars—while Mansfield's is around a million . . . merely a difference of three ciphers.

Anytime now, it will be all right for someone to report seeing "the first robin"—although it will probably be one that decided to stay over for the winter.

MacArthur's latest order is to the effect that the Japanese "solve their own problems"—but, at the moment, the United States cannot be presented as an example of successful accomplishment.

James F. Byrnes, a Truly 'Great Man'

NO REASON other than that of his health condition would justify James F. Byrnes in present withdrawal from active participation in the work of perfecting the machinery of the United Nations as a peace-assuring organization.

His has been a tremendous task and his performance has been so admirable as to inspire confidence and win acclaim, not only among his fellow-countrymen but throughout the allied nations of the world.

Except for the presidency itself, Mr. Byrnes has been accorded the highest honors within the gift of the people of his state and country and his capability was convincingly demonstrated in each of the positions of trust to which he was called, whether in the house or senate, on the Supreme Court bench, director of the Office of War Mobilization, or in the highest post of the president's cabinet, that of secretary of state.

Had it not been for intervention by the late President Roosevelt during the 1944 Democratic national convention—in behalf of Harry S. Truman's nomination for the vice presidency—it appears not unlikely that the nomination would have gone to Mr. Byrnes, whose greater qualifications for the office—and for the presidency—have at no time been questioned.

While it is announced as "doctor's orders" that Mr. Byrnes "slow down" from the intensity of the work he has been doing, there is also probably a realization on his own part of a limit to physical endurance—at the age of 67—and that the time has come when he had best allow others to go forward on the course which he has aided so substantially in charting.

Policies of the United States, as to the United Nations and international relations, appear sufficiently firmly fixed as to be undisturbed by the substitution of Gen. George C. Marshall, a distinguished military figure, in the heretofore civilian role of secretary of state.

It is quite natural, however, that this should be a matter for speculation in other countries until reassurance can be given of continuance of policies which Mr. Byrnes has so clearly stated to America and to the world.

Who Will Succeed Stalin, and When?

RECENT changes in Russia's foreign policy are being interpreted as indications that a successor is being contemplated for Stalin. Since a new head would bring new internal tensions, Moscow may be planning to offset these with international relations that are secure and quiet.

Now that there are signs of Stalin's withdrawal from the limelight, the matter of who will follow him is becoming a popular guessing game. After all, his is one of the most powerful, if not the most powerful, job in the world. It is a dual authority—as secretary-general of the Communist Party's six million members, he directs the destinies of 202 million widely scattered countrymen; as premier he adds government authority to this party headship.

Molotov, with his foreign ministership and the prestige of the treaty conferences, leads the possibilities. There are, however, three other prominent candidates: Zhdanov, central committeeman of the Communist party, popular organizer and legislator; Malenkov, personnel administrator of the party and therefore controller of all appointments; Beria, head of the NKVD, the secret police, as well as director of all Russia's research on the atomic bomb.

School Boy Has a Good Idea

MAYBE it isn't an entirely new idea—but it seems like one worthy of mention as it is susceptible to further development. Every once in awhile many people have need for the services of a dependable boy to do some sort of work—shovel snow, for instance, or care for a lawn in summer—and it is usually difficult to find a boy who is able and willing to work for reasonable compensation.

But the incident that comes to attention is that of a Glenwood boulevard schoolboy who has hit upon the idea of distributing in his neighborhood a neatly pencil-printed slip of paper which conveys the information that he is available to do errands "on call," Mondays and Fridays from 4 to 5 p. m.

While this service is in limited scope, it suggests a way in which the availability of other services can be made known throughout an area of possible interest. The boy, of course, gives his name, address and telephone number.

Save That Rope! — There's a Shortage

ROPE, like so many common products of civilization, is taken for granted until it is no longer at hand. And rope of late has executed an almost complete disappearance act. Manufacturers, farmers and fishermen, the world around, and especially in this country, are hunting rope and twine. It looks as if they will be short, as much as 40 per cent, until 1950.

The Philippines raised something called abaca and the Dutch East Indies grew sisal. From these the major supply of the world's rope used to be manufactured. The Japanese invasion destroyed these fields. While the Philippines have made a partial recovery, they no longer sell their Manila hemp exclusively to the United States.

East Africa, a new source of cordage material, is selling practically all it produces to Great Britain. Mexico is coming into the picture with a product suitable for binder twine, and American traders are re-entering the Philippine market. So eventually there will be rope for the United States, but not nearly as much as is needed for years.

A Ford executive has an idea that new-car prices will drop this year—but nothing has yet been heard from the accessory producers.

Claude Callan suggests: "It might be easy for you to quit your bad habits if you could think of anything else you have to live for."

Mickey Rooney's new-born son has been named Timothy—and it will be just like someone to remark, "That ain't hay."

Return of Farm Problems May Cause Concern For Republicans

By RAYMOND MOLEY

REPUBLICAN leaders with an eye to the future will soon be looking after their fences on the farms. Roosevelt was first nominated by the agricultural states; the Democratic machines in the big industrial states in 1932 were solidly against him.

But, as time passed, Roosevelt and other Democratic leaders veered toward the cities and made alliances with labor. And then, for 10 years, the farmers and small-town people veered away from the New Deal. The election of 1946 saw this drift at its height. It is hard to see how the Republicans can expect more farm support in 1948, and they may have less.

There are a number of clouds over agriculture, and if these grow larger, farmers may transfer some of their criticism from the New Deal to the new Republican congress.

One thing to watch for in 1947 is the possible return of drought. Weather people who watch such things say that one is two years overdue. It isn't fair to blame politicians for the weather, but it lowers people's spirits and makes other resentments sharper.

Farmers' incomes are due to drop this year. Agricultural prices will decline still more, and the prices farmers pay for things will rise to some extent. Farm equipment, for example, will have to absorb higher freight rates on steel and tools and perhaps higher wages in fabrications. Farm supplies, including coal, will bear a further load occasioned by higher labor costs.

Prices of farm land are at their peak. The usual consequence of inflation in that sector is more debt for those who over-expanded. Credit tightens at the banks. Farsighted bankers in big agricultural states have worried about this for several years.

Meanwhile, various improvements in farming are causing signs of over production. Farm economists, at their December meeting in Philadelphia, had a great deal to say about over production. One paper read at that meeting said: "In 1920, one farm person in the United States produced enough agricultural products to support himself and .28 of another person. By 1945, he produced enough for himself and 4.45 other persons."

This figure is probably correct, if we consider every person on a farm as a producer. The fact is that the number of people on farms who are real factors in production has declined from 12,000,000 before 1939 to 8,500,000 now. Every person really employed on a farm produces enough for himself and 17 other people in the United States. If we include exports, the figure may be 20 people supplied by one farm worker.

To put the facts in another way, our farm production has increased one-third in seven years, while the number of workers in agriculture has declined nearly one-fifth. High production has not been uniform, of course. The better equipped farms have made tremendous increases in production per worker. Two-thirds of farm production has been done by one-third of the farms.

We can hardly ward off over production by turning back the clock or, to use another figure of speech, by plowing under the machines. The Hungarians tried that some years ago, when their government stopped the use of farm machinery because farm hands complained.

The task before congress is to meet farm overproduction by rational means of improving the national diet, by increasing exports and, most important of all, by using farm products as industrial raw materials. In agriculture, government must play a larger and larger role.

Republicans may talk about free enterprise, but they will never keep farm voters completely satisfied by any such ideology. Farmers like ample government aid—for farmers. In fact, they have grown to depend on it.

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

"I think they're planning to live with us after they're married! I heard him say something about tolerating us!"

Calvin A. Byers

Farmer's Diary: "Hark! The Dogs Do Bark!"

WHAT is more a part of every rural community than the barking of the house dogs? Since we moved on Honey Creek, seven years ago, a constantly varied medley of canine voices has made me feel a little closer to this soil.

On each quiet moonlight night every dog is more articulate. Like their relatives, the wolves, they seem to find intense satisfaction in baying at the moon. Just what influence those silvery rays have upon these creatures' world, we do not know. But every household pet will escape the luxury of warm quarters, if possible, just to stand upon the lawn or porch and bark hilariously.

Less than a mile off, in the southeast corner of our valley, lives Mike, the large young hound dog. A friendly roving character—an ungainly awkward pup of most uncertain ancestry—Mike pays a visit to every household in the valley, about once a month. Each evening when lights are out, he sends his big deep voice across the level bottom and stirs echoes among the surrounding hills. Skipper, our black spaniel, hears him and scratches at the door. When I open, he rushes out in ruthless haste, to bark his answer.

At first, perhaps, the conversation is between just the two. One barks, the other answers. But soon other dogs chime in, and form a curious medley of treble, staccato, and deep bass. Then, like a high-pitched voice from behind a screen, the faint bark of a fox is heard in the timber on the slope. Then, for a while, I imagine this outcast of the wild is the subject of heated barking.

Like members of the human family, dogs are real individuals. Some are clowns and love to grandstand; some are lordly and belligerent; others deliberate, with wise instinct. Some are dull and uninterested — therefore uninteresting. Some are alert, sensitive, and understanding.

Our nearest neighbor's old dog, Bill, is a mixture of Great Dane and German Police—a tall, muscular, homely creature of great intelligence. His little companion sallies forth when strangers approach, barking furiously, but Bill has learned long ago that this is wasted energy.

Bill is a careful hunter, and roams the hills for mice and rabbits. Three years ago, when he first came to the valley, Bill visited our spring, in the summer, and raided whatever food he found there in covered vessels. If he could not get inside, somehow he managed to carry the pail, or crock, or bowl, away with him to the hill, then turned it upside down and ate the contents. Weighted lids, and knobbed covers he understood. Once he carried off the 6-quart churn with our week's supply of butter, freshly churned, washed and molded. Another time he appropriated the hog's head left stuck upon a pole, after the butchering. While hunting, our neighbor found the empty containers and brought them back.

General Clay Forced Change of American Command In Germany

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Inside fact about the shift of U. S. commanders in Germany is that the stage was set for the change shortly after Gen. Lucius D. Clay visited the National Association of Manufacturers in New York six weeks ago.

Shortly before that, the senate war investigating committee (the old Truman committee) had sent its chief counsel, George Meader, to Germany and he had come back with a preliminary report highly critical of what went on in the U. S. occupation zone.

General Clay, then in the United States, was much upset by this report and talked to Secretary of State Byrnes about resigning. He felt that Gen. Joseph McNarney, top commander of U. S. troops in Germany, was the man really responsible, though he, Clay, as head of the military government for Germany, got the blame.

On top of the unfavorable Meader report, Gen. Clay addressed a meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers and afterwards sat down at an off-the-record meeting of NAM leaders including some of the top moguls of American industry. Their solution for the future of Germany was simple. They told Clay that they should be permitted to get in touch with their opposite numbers in German industry—the I. G. Farbens, the Opels and the other big industrialists who helped build up Hitler's war machine.

If allowed to do business with the German cartels, the U. S. industrialists told Clay, they would have Germany back on its feet in no time.

This should General Clay. Later he told Secretary Byrnes and his superiors in the war department that he would retire from the army immediately and go back to hold home in Atlanta if any such deal was carried out.

Furthermore Clay told the NAM members at their off-the-record meeting that the German people did not believe in or understand free enterprise and that Germany could only continue under strong government controls.

In the end Secretary Byrnes strongly supported Clay and urged the war department to relieve Gen. McNarney. The war department agreed. It is significant, however, that before the change was finally agreed on, the state department sounded out some of the GOP leaders on Capitol Hill. They agreed too.

Russia Lend-Lease.

Secretary of State Byrnes has sent a third note to Russia demanding immediate settlement of Russia's eleven billion dollar lend-lease debt. And since the first two notes were completely ignored, this time Byrnes instructed Ambassador Bedell Smith to deliver the note personally either to Stalin or Molotov.

When Smith saw Molotov, informed him he had received orders to hand the note personally to the Russian foreign minister because the first two notes were still unanswered.

Molotov replied that he was not aware of the previous failures to answer. This caused Ambassador Smith to strain rather blunt language that the lend-lease settlement had lagged on for six months and Secretary Byrnes wanted it given immediate attention.

Molotov said he would take it up with Premier Stalin, and that ended the interview. It is still too early to expect a reply.

Reorganization Stand Pat.

It didn't look out of the secret GOP caucus but Speaker Joe Martin took firm and decisive stand against any change in the LaFollette-Monroney reorganization of congress.

"Republicans cannot afford to hack away at the reorganization setup," Martin warned when Representative W. Sterling Cole of New York and George Bates of Massachusetts, ranking Republicans on the naval affairs committee, wanted to hold out against amalgamation with the military affairs committee.

"Even though you think there might be changes for the better," the speaker continued, "you must remember that the bill was passed by congress and has become law. If we go in there and try to tear away the consolidation of committees, the people of the country are going to think we wanted reorganization only in order to get ourselves bigger salaries and are ready to junk the rest of the bill." (The bill increased members' salaries from $10,000 to $15,000.)

Bates and Cole then took the floor, each delivering a grandiose eulogy on the great history of the naval affairs committee though sadly agreeing not to carry their fight to the floor of the house.

Good Neighbors Cool.

One of the best friends the USA ever had south of the border, ex-Foreign Minister Oswaldo Aranha of Brazil, arrived here this week in what to him may have seemed like a homecoming. For, as Brazilian ambassador to the United States, Aranha knew this country better than any other recent ambassador, perhaps better than many Americans.

He traveled from coast to coast by auto, visited U. S. cattle ranches (he is a cattle rancher himself), attended the Republican and Democratic political conventions, never missed the Kentucky Derby, and coined this diagnosis of Democratic-GOP campaign tactics: "The Republicans promise Santa Claus to both the rich and the poor; the Democrats promise Santa Claus to the poor with the rich man's money."

While Aranha's current visit to the USA may have seemed like a homecoming from a personal viewpoint, from a broader point of view it may not. For, in the years since he served as ambassador and Brazilian foreign minister, the United States has largely reversed Roosevelt's keen interest in Latin American affairs. And while we have been arguing about Trieste and the Danube, our former good neighbors have started turning in other directions.

Aranha is scheduled to speak in Cleveland this week, and if he talks straight from the shoulder, he will disclose that the Communist vote in Latin American countries has jumped alarmingly, that the old wartime bond between the United States and Latin America has cooled, that the USA cannot buy friendship with Export-Import bank loans, and that we really will have to work at good-neighborliness if we want to keep the best international asset we have—the Pan American bond of unity.

Thomas L. Stokes

Message Viewed as Prelude to 1948.

WASHINGTON—President Truman left himself quite a few political loopholes in his message to the new Republican congress.

To the listener, it seemed that the president was looking ahead to 1948, drear as that prospect now seems to most Democrats.

The way he contrived his speech it sounded as much like an announcement of his candidacy for re-election as Governor Dewey's inaugural at Albany the other day sounded like an announcement of the governor's candidacy for the Republican nomination.

Mr. Truman spoke in the sweetly reasonable tones of co-operation. But, by generalizing rather than being too specific, he left himself plenty of room in which to move and to formulate his own political program and record.

He put responsibility directly up to the Republican party for filling out a legislative program in congress. And, in his generalization, he stated certain principles that give him the opportunity to take issue and make issues as the Republican program develops.

It was a message that had something to please everybody, but it was not strong enough to satisfy either extreme Conservatives in his own and the Republican party or the extreme New Deal wing of his own party. Still it left him plenty of leeway to move in any direction as events develop.

Figuratively and without the usual offense attached, it might be said that the president kept some New Deal cards nicely concealed in the deck as he did what was almost a sleight-of-hand performance before congress.

He made several gestures in the Republican direction. He got a great hand when he proclaimed that the budget would be balanced. He gave free rein to the private-enterprise system, as Republicans have asked, and pointed out how he had relaxed controls, as Republicans also have demanded.

But, between the lines, he made it clear the Republicans have a responsibility in this job by what they do in congress in the next two years.

He yielded to Republicans in accepting the need for better methods of adjusting labor relations. He suggested a few, covering what are generally recognized abuses, including jurisdictional strikes and some forms of secondary boycotts.

But, at the same time, he warned against "vindictive laws" against labor and put himself squarely on record for the Wagner Act's guarantee of collective bargaining, which, he pointed out, is an established national policy.

On some of the knotty problems he advised that congress go slow and consider them in a joint commission on which it would be represented, together with the public, management and labor.

He drew the broad outlines of his own program in this stand on labor legislation and in his renewed support for measures to "alleviate the causes of workers' insecurity," such as extension and broadening of the Social Security program, better housing, a comprehensive national health program, and a fair minimum wage. This is established New Deal doctrine. Republicans and Southern Democrats hitherto have blocked it.

High on his program, too, the president put anti-monopoly measures to combat concentration of control of our economy "in a small number of giant corporations" which increased during the war. This was another challenge to Republicans which, if not heeded, gives the president another point for his 1948 program.

Responsibility Squarely Up to Republicans.

WASHINGTON—In preparing his message on the state of the union, President Truman recognized that he was in a spot. He would face a congress that was indifferent, not hostile: a Republican congress looking to final victory in 1948.

There were two choices. He could write a spirited, fighting message reaffirming the objectives of his predecessor. Or he could make the best of a difficult situation inserts of caution and compromise.

Given the president's temperament and background, the latter choice was inevitable. His speech before congress had a curiously dry, academic sound.

He was going to the powerful opposition in the legislative branch of the government, "I'll be good if you'll be good." Behind the earnest, uninspired phraseology was a wistful hope.

The speech was academic because his recommendations are doomed to be ignored. The most detailed section of the message dealt with recommendations for improving collective bargaining and for better the relationships between management and labor.

One recommendation was for a commission, to be named jointly by congress and the president, which would study these problems and, not later than March 15, suggest steps to be taken.

But Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, the man who will really run the senate during the coming year, has already made his labor recommendations through a small policy group that includes Sen. Joseph H. Ball of Minnesota and Sen. H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey. After brief hearings, a stiffer version of the Case Bill will be passed and sent to the White House. What that happens, the president will have a really difficult decision to make.

The president's recommendations for social and economic legislation were phrased in general terms. He is for vigorous enforcement of the anti-trust laws. He is for broadening the immigration laws to admit more homeless and displaced persons from Europe. He is for a bill providing adequate medical care "to all who need it, not as charity but on the basis of payments made by the beneficiaries of the program."

Where he comes nearest to colliding with the Republicans is in the two paragraphs on fiscal policy. While he does not put it in so many words, the president makes it plain he is against any tax cuts. He goes further and wisely urges that the wartime excise taxes due to expire June 30 be continued through the coming fiscal year.

The lamest section of the message deals with housing. The president talks about an "aggressive" program as though he himself had not scuttled the controls that might have made low-cost veterans' housing possible.

In reality, the situation President Truman faced a year ago and the situation he faces now are not so different.

We can see now very clearly that the responsibility in the next two years will be a Republican responsibility.

In the words of the prayer book, for those things left undone and for those things that ought not to have been done, blame will rest on the GOP.

Likewise the credit for constructive steps will go to the party in power in the legislature. We have a Republican government.

That is the real meaning of the president's message. That is the state of the union today, and it may be that history will show that Mr. Truman was right to recognize the reality.

Timely Editorial

More Nurses Needed.

The need for nurses is news these days, not because fewer nurses are at work (there actually are more), but because the demand for nursing services has been increasing faster than the supply.

Reasons for the rising demand are many and varied. The number of hospital admissions has doubled in the past decade; health insurance groups now afford hospital care for millions more (membership in Blue Cross alone has increased from two million in 1937 to 23 million in 1946) than before the war. Health education programs have had their effect in emphasizing preventive medicine.

With 6 per cent of the world's population, the United States has about 50 per cent of the world's registered professional nurses. Back in 1900 we had one nurse to every 6,389 people; today we have one to every 300. But even so, we could use another 41,000 graduate professional nurses.

With the demand for nursing service continuing to grow, many girls would be doing well to give careful consideration to nursing as a career.—Minneapolis Star.

AIR FORCE AIMS AT NEW MARKS

WASHINGTO — (U.P.) — The army air forces has served notice that it is out to break existing records for aerial speed, range and altitude this year.

The AAF said in a statement that it has experimental models of planes "capable of greater record-breaking possibilities" and that it has a program to make use of them.

"The program will continue until the United States holds all important speed, altitude and endurance records possible," it said.

The program includes:

1. An assault on speed and altitude records with the XS-1, a revolutionary new rocket-propelled plane designed to fly at a top speed of 1,700 miles per hour at an altitude of 80,000 feet.

2. An attempt to smash speed records with "souped-up" versions of the P-80 and P-84 fighter planes. The P-84 Thunderjet already has flown 619 miles per hour but must exceed the British-held world record of 616 M.P.H. by more than five M.P.M. before the record is official.

3. Attempt with the B-35 Northrup flying wing and B-36 Consolidated super bomber to beat the world distance mark set by the "Truculent Turtle," navy patrol bomber, last year.

4. Attempts at new records in weight carrying with the C-97 cargo plane.

5. New records for altitude with AAF helicopters.

Nursing Program To Start Jan. 27

The home nursing program of the Mansfield chapter, American Red Cross, is expected to go into full effect about Jan. 27, Mrs. Karl T. Langacher, chairman of the home nursing committee, said today.

Program plans were discussed at a meeting of the committee Tuesday with Miss Mary Blitz, nursing representative from Red Cross area headquarters, Alexandria, Va.

Full detoils of the local program will be released at a later date, Mrs. Langacher said.

The United States has about 129,000 miles of trunk pipelines for crude oil; 245,000 miles for natural gas; and 17,000 for gasolines, fuel oils, kerosenes, etc.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills. —Adv.

Agency Demands Relaxation Of Immigratior Restrictions

LONDON —(U.P.)— The Jewish agency for Palestine has demanded immediate relaxation of British restrictions on immigration into the Holy Land, where 90,000 British troops are ready to strike back at the Jewish underground, it was learned today.

David Ben Gurion, chairman of the Jewish agency executive, placed the demand before colonial secretary Creech Jones when outlining the terms on which the Jews would agree to participate in the London Palestine conference.

The British government allows a quota of 1,500 Jews to enter Palestine each month. All immigrants reaching the country without certificates are transferred to Cyrprus to await their turn on the quota list.

In Palestine, the strengthened British army awaited an order from the British cabinet to impose rastic measures against the underround.

Prite Minister Clement Attlee calledcabinet meetings for today and tmorrow. The formal decision athorizing army action probably ill be taken tomorrow.

A igh government source said it alredy was definite that strong measues would be taken to break up th militant underground forces Army action may coincide wth the return to Jerusalem of Ger Sir Alan Cunningham, high commisioner for Palestine.

Cuningham was received by King eorge VI yesterday and had a ong talk with Attlee. He was blieved to have urged the need ir action to end the outbreak f violence. Present army policy n Palestine is described as "defense."

Home-Mixed Syrup Relieves Coughs Quickly

Saves Big Dollars. So Easy! No Cooking.

A real surprise awaits you, in your own kitchen, for the relief of coughs due to colds. You can easily mix cough syrup that gives you about 4 times as much for your money.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup. No cooking needed—it's no trouble at all. Then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (obtained from any druggist) into a pint bottle. Fill up with your syrup, and you have a full pint of wonderful cough medicine. It never spoils, lasts a long time, and children love it.

This mixture takes right hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and quickly eases soreness and difficult breathing. Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for quick action on coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way. —Adv.

COUNCIL ADOPTS FIRE INSPECTION CODE IN BUCYRUS

Citizens' Committee Urges Other Improvements.

BUCYRUS—City council today had adopted far-reaching legislation calling for reduction of fire loss in Bucyrus. It also was considering recommendations by a special advisory committee for improving the fire department.

Aimed at reducing fire losses in Bucyrus, which have been unusually heavy during the last two years, the council Tuesday adopted legislation providing for establishment of a fire prevention bureau with a wide scope of duties and powers.

The legislation, prepared by the safety department, provides for the appointment of a chief fire inspector with power to make inspections of any Bucyrus building at any desired time and make recommendations for correcting fire hazards.

Buildings where hazardous material is handled will be inspected not less than two times a year and outlying districts and residential sections will be inspected annually under terms of the new legislation.

The new bill also provides for the issuance of correctional orders to owners where fire hazards are found, with provision for $25 fines for each offense and a fine of $25 a day for each day the violation is permitted to exist.

Improvements Urged.

In the written recommendations prepared by a citizens committee, the group urged regular attendance of city firemen at special fire fighting courses; promotion of personnel; inspection of equipment; addition of new equipment including breathing apparatus, carbon dioxide fire extinguishers and equipment for entering locked buildings; installation of a new pumper, a new siren; establishment of a north side fire station; remodeling of the fire department into a general municipal building; installation of a standpipe, and dredging for a new reservoir.

In other actions, the council adopted the annual appropriations for 1947 and also heard from the city Auditor E. C. Oppenlander a report of the city finances as of Jan. 1.

$476,821 Appropriated.

Appropriations for the year total $476,821, of which $149,070 was appropriated from the general fund for operation of city departments. Other total appropriations included $116,620 for hospital; $112,741 for water works; $10,700 for garbage collection; $18,000 for street repair; $7,750 for library, $19,820 for street maintenance; $22,400 for operation of sewage disposal plant and $20,220 for water works bonds.

The auditor's report disclosed the city opening the year with a balance of $37,127 in the general fund and an indebtedness of $146,000 outside of the water works debt. A balance of $402,065 was shown in special funds and $17,605 in the water works fund.

FIRE LOSS DECLINES

MILLERSBURG — The Millersburg fire department answered 29 calls during 1946, and damage totaled $7 240, Fire Chief Gordon Barton reported today This compares with 27 calls during the previous year, with $62,850 worth of damage.

Jap Quake Swayed Buildings, New Washington GI Declares

NEW WASHINGTON — An earthquake so severe that an eight-story building swayed eight feet in each direction was described yesterday by Cpl. Kenneth D. Auck, son of Mr. and Mrs Clarence Auck of New Washington.

Cpl. Auck, who is stationed in Osaka, Japan, scene of the recent earthquake which destroyed a large area in Southern Honshu, told his parents in a letter that the disturbance was so severe "we couldn't stand up, and had to crawl on our hands and knees."

Members of his company, which is attached to the 25th Infantry, headquarters division, were thrown out of bed in their sleep, he declared, and made their way down five flights of stairs "only to find the ground shaking as much as the building."

Cpl Auck said six different tidal waves followed the quake, which he said Japanese newspapers described as five times as powerful as that which struck Tokyo in 1923. He gave vivid descriptions of whole villages being swept away by tidal waves.

COURT HEARS PLEA FOR WATER PLAN

COLUMBUS—(AP)—The Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy district court, composed of 17 common pleas judges, met here yesterday to hear a request for authorization of $293,000 for development of water resources in the Scioto and Sandusky river basins.

By the request, described as part of an "official plan," the court would authorize a general assessment of three-tenths of one mill on real estate in each of the 17 counties affected, which include Crawford and Morrow.

Assessments within the district are provided for in the state conservancy district act, Secretary Allen I. Pretzman said, adding that since 1934 the district has operated on a $15,000 fund created by general funds appropriations of the counties.

The 17 counties in the district are Sandusky, Seneca, Wyandot, Crawford, Marion, Morrow, Delaware, Madison, Franklin, Fayette, Pickaway, Ross, Highland, Pike, Vinton and Scioto.

OIL AGREEMENT TIES U. S. TO MID-EAST WOES

American Firms Given Share In Iranian Output.

By HARRISON SALISBURY

NEW YORK—(AP)—Buried on the financial pages during the year-end holidays was news of an event which middle eastern specialists believe could produce more future headlines than all the rumblings in Palestine, Iran and Egypt for two years

The financial page stories revealed that the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co., had agreed "in principle" to sell to American oil firms "large quantities" of Iranian crude oil over a 10 to 20-year period.

The official announcement stressed that the agreement was 'purely commercial' and that the British and American governments had no part in it although both governments were 'informed' of the negotiations

Factors Hidden.

Lying behind the financial dispatches were these factors

1 The British government holds 55 9 per cent of the stock of Anglo-Iranian Oil Co

2 The Anglo-Iranian fields are the chief fuel reserve of the British fleet

3 The new agreement for the first time gives the United States a direct economic stake, estimated in the dispatches at 'hundreds of millions of dollars" on one of the world's No 1 trouble spots—Iran

4 Agreeing to share its Persian oil with the United States Britain in effect, bypasses the Tehran government which thus far has stalled off both American and Russian demands for oil concessions through a parliamentary technicality which prevents any new oil deals until Iran's elections are held.

There has been no detailed Soviet reaction of the oil arrangements but it was anticipated that the reaction will be sharp and will take the line that the oil agreement lays the foundation for basic British and American joint collaboration in the middle east with all the military and political implications this would involve

The agreement to share Persian oil is only one of several features of the elaborate understanding reached by the oil companies

New Lines Planned

Two enormous new pipelines will be built with American capital One will be under control of Anglo-Iranian and will run from the head of the Persian gulf to a terminus on the Mediterranean The other would be operated by American interests from Saudi Arabia to the Mediterranean

The termini of those two lines has not been specified officially However the British are said to favor Gaza the most southern Palestine port The pipelines would serve to anchor American financial interests solidly across the complex and disturbed Arab states and in Palestine itself

Gaza has been mentioned by the British as a possible site for their new major security base once they have withdrawn from Egypt It lies in the proposed British zone under the British Palestine partition plan.

Although attracting little public attention in the United State the tremendous implications of the new oil arrangements have not been lost to British comment ators

The conservative London economist put the matter like this Oil politics become power politics The shadow of Russia falls right across the Middle Eastern oil territories The Russians are thirsty for oil and they may well think they have as much right as the Americans and the British to be interested in rich supplies so much closer to their own borders

Try and Stop Me

"What an expense I had in Miami Beach this winter" moaned a returned sun whipper "A fifty dollar tip for the uppers going down Then my wife insists on a hotel that charges thirty-five dollars a day without glass of orange juice thrown Then the sun is too hot for him the beach the first morning I find her unconscious 'What did you do for her?' inquired his partner The man admitted 'I put her on a train back to New York"

Clubmen Hear Travel Story

Buenos Aires, capital city of Argentina, largest South American republic, was vividly described to Optimist club members and guests yesterday at their luncheon meeting in the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Kenneth Petri, Galion attorney, described the city in a talk on his recent trip through South America.

With a population of more than 1,000,000, underground parking, paved, wide boulevards, subways, and magnificent theaters and with a cost of living about half that in the United States, this fabulous city is a mecca of tourists from all parts of the globe, Petri said.

Optimist program co-chairmen for January are A. B. Reese and A. E. Sullivan.

Mystery Object Has Anti-Climax

PORTLAND, Ore. —(U.P.)— The mysterious, cone-shaped object which fell on the campus of a military academy and prompted scientists to speculate on the possibility it was a chip off a stray rocket was identified yesterday as a piece of plaster.

Analysis showed that the "thing" was the ceramic nose of an old artillery shell used for decorative purposes on the grounds of the Hill Military academy. The object fell to the groound during a hailstorm Saturday.

Winchell — On Broadway

LAST NIGHT I dreamed they took the blindfold off Lady Justice. She had been weeping. The following are some reasons:

Lizzie Dilling, native hate-monger, for a decade screeched against FDR and his followers and must have given comfort to the Hitler hordes here. . . . O. J. Rogge used his time trying to destroy native Ratzis. The result: Rogge is kicked out of the Dep't of Justice—and Lizzie Dilling is suing him because he called her a Nazi fan.

Att'n Chi. American: For a long time the gov't detectives and some of us on the newspapers wondered who was paying Lizzie Dilling and others named in the Federal indictments for alleged sedition. . . . This is to report the name of one contributor who admitted paying Lizzie over $10,000 for Lizzie's many screeches against those of us who fight Hitler supporters. . . . That contributor is the former Alice Copley Thaw of society. She was once the Countess of Yarmouth, whatever that is. She is now Mrs. Geoffrey G. Whitney of Milton, Mass. . . . Nice girl.

Among other things, World War II was fought to keep Nazism out of the United States. To insure our victory we deported many Hitlerats who were infesting our country—such as Fritz Kuhn. . . . Now the war is over and we permit a man like Norman Jaques (a member of the Canadian Parliament) to enter the country and be escorted by Gerald L. K. Smith on a national speaking tour. . . . While our Immigration officials slumber on and on and on and on.

* * *

SMITH WANTS publicity and more publicity—and no matter what sort. . . . Reporters have been giving him "the silent treatment" lately, and it's burning him up. To break into print Herr Gerald now demands elaborate police protection for his platformances—to "protect" him from only Smith knows what. . . . Tip to police chiefs: Don't be fall guys to Fuehrer Smith's Napoleonic dreams! He is being chased by his own shadow.

Arthur W. Terminiello, the Alabama cleric who was suspended by his superior last year (for inciting religious and race-hatred), announced (at a Boston Front meeting) that he severed connections with Gerald L. K. Smith. Terminiello claims he joined Smith on his own . . . more likely he prefers not to have to split the swag with partners.

Lois de Lafayette Washburn is the Hitler-heiling, super-patriotic pal of Liz Dilling (with whom she shared a spot in the Washington sedition farce). And where did Missus Washburn end up after the war? In jail? . . . Nh, nh . . . In the Washington, D. C., office of a national youth organization—as a secretary.

That outfit denied it and she disappeared—after we aired it.

Pegler — Fair Enough

WASHINGTON—When Thomas F. Meaney was up for confirmation by the senate on his appointment to the United States District court for New Jersey, in 1942, there was much complimentary testimony as to his personal character, his patriotism and his legal ability. But all the opposition did object on the ground that he appeared to be a political creature of the boss, Frank Hague, of Jersey City. Charles Edison, the governor, a Democrat himself and late secretary of the navy under President Roosevelt, said: "The record indicates beyond any question that he has done his boss' will. The basic question is whether you are not, in effect, putting Frank Hague on the bench. The conclusion is 'yes.' "

Mr. Meaney was confirmed, nevertheless, but he must have realized that in time he would find himself under cold and questioning observation in a criminal trial of some old friend of Boss Hague as Joe Fay, the drunken, brawling union racketeer, who now comes before Judge Meaney charged with evading his income taxes on the enormous graft which he extorted from the contractors on the Delaware aqueduct job. Judge Meaney may be incorruptible, but he has no right to object if others observe his conduct of this trial, and the outcome, in the mood of the governor who believed he had done the boss' will before and might do it again.

* * *

THE BOSS is loyal to his henchmen, and Fay has been one of them for years. Fay is a vice-president of the operating engineers' union, made up of the men who run the machinery and perform a lot of mock-jobs amounting to political patronage on heavy construction projects. Among those mock-jobs is that of "Hamburger Man," a political bum who gets $10 a day ostensibly to oil machinery which needs oiling about as often as your watch and actually puts in his time sitting around the hamburger joint. On public construction he does this at your expense. The union has been a shakedown device for Fay and a lot of other arrogant crooks—he is now under conviction and a long prison sentence in the state of New York—for years and years. Fay's home and headquarters have been in Newark, where Judge Meaney sits in the federal court.

Fay worked both sides of the street. He not only bossed and bullied the honest working stiffs who did the work, but he operated a company which chartered heavy machinery to the contractors. He could withhold labor from contractors who didn't rent his machinery. And, of course, he regularly collected shake as insurance against "labor trouble," no matter where the contractors got their heavy equipment.

All this while, he was as close to Hague as Judge Meaney was. He still is a Hague man. And those who came down to Washington in 1942 to indorse Meaney included Robert F. Lynch, the president of the Hudson county building and construction council, and Joseph Quinn, the president of the Hudson county Central Labor union. Those both are within Fay's jurisdiction as vice president of the operating engineers, and Hudson county is the county in which Meaney sat for 11 years as judge of the juvenile court and five years as judge of the court of common pleas before he was nominated to the federal court.

* * *

RECENTLY, Meaney sat in a trial of Ben Pross, as rotten a crook as you will meet in the rogues' gallery of the American Federation of Labor, and two other defendants in a black market liquor case. Pross had three convictions on his record, including a four-year stretch in Atlanta, so he didn't dare take the witness stand. It was an open-and-shut case involving 10,000 dozen bottles of booze eased into the black market at southern military camps during the war. For this our brave boys were stuck to the extent of $25 a quart on their nights off in the dirty jukes.

The alcohol tax unit of the treasury gave the Department of Justice excellent evidence. But, nope, Brother Pross, who is business agent of a filthy underworld racket disguised as a local of the Wine, Liquor and Distillery Workers' union, somehow managed to get acquitted. The other two were convicted. And then Judge Meaney set aside the convictions of the two co-defendants and the federal district attorney in Newark quietly gave up and dropped the indictments. So they all walked out.

This is the same district attorney's office that now prosecutes another crooked unioneer, before the same Judge Meaney, all parties to the case being loyal members of the circle of the friends of Boss Hague.

I try not to be suspicious, but it takes an effort these days and sometimes it doesn't work, even so.

Lippmann — Today and Tomorrow

PRESIDENT TRUMAN must feel great personal satisfaction in his selection of Gen. Marshall as secretary of state. He has been able to confide his heaviest responsibility to the man who is by character and experience uniquely qualified to meet it.

We are in the transition from a global war to a global peace, and in this period the knowledge of how the global war was conducted is indispensable. The problems of the peace are the direct consequences of the way the war was conducted.

The fame of Marshall has spread outward to the people at large from those men best able to know what he did and to judge him. It is no exaggeration to say that his reputation is highest among the men who know the most about him.

To the patience and the firmness which are necessary in negotiation, he brought also lucidity, and the ability to judge fairly, and perspective, and the capacity for systematic and objective thought, and the habit of organized and disciplined action, and a singular disinterestedness, and immunity from fear and personal ambition.

With Marshall at the state department, with Gen. Eisenhower the chief of staff, the country can now feel confident that its policy and its power will be in balance. This is always important. In the present condition of the world it is essential.

For the effect of the war was to bring about a convulsive change in the distribution of power throughout the world. It has brought about the disappearance for the time being of two great powers—Germany and Japan—a weakening of Europe as a factor in the world, a breaking down of the authority of all the empires that have maintained law and order in most of Asia and Africa, the disunity and division of China, and an immense and spectacular expansion of the power and influence of Russia and of the United States.

* * *

THE PROBLEM of the peace is not now to negotiate the details of separate treaties with the enemy states, but how to achieve an equilibrium, temporary to begin with but capable of becoming permanent, among the victors.

The sincerest tribute which the country can pay to James F. Byrnes is to say that in resigning the burdens of the secretary of state, he must not be allowed to retire from public life.

He has been for years our most seasoned public servant, and only a man of exceptional gifts could at his age have done so well in a field where he had not previously worked. He has won the respect and the affection of the country, and he will be needed for a long time to come.

15 MOTORISTS PAY $240 IN TRAFFIC CASES

1 Driver Loses License After Damaging Two Cars.

Fifteen motorists yesterday paid $240 into the Mansfield traffic court "treasury" in fines and bond forfeitures.

One driver, fined $65 and costs on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol, also was assessed $285 car-damage bill. In addition, his license was suspended for six months.

In all, 17 traffic cases were heard yesterday, some dating back to late December.

License Suspended.

Devolco C. Larew, 363 West Fifth street, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol, was fined $350 and costs and his license was suspended for six months. The court suspended $285 of the fine, however, on condition that he pays for damage to cars owned by Joseph Unger, 237 Gerke avenue, and H. S. Grandon, 171 North Mulberry street.

Fined $10 and costs each on speeding charges were Lester G. McEwian, 298 Third avenue; Earl D. Penny, 495 Cline avenue; Robert E. McFadden, 25 Dunbilt court; Robert Goettl, 693 Maple street; Lewis H. Russell, Ashland; Leo E. Budin, 367 Shepard road; William E. Hamlin, 868 Millsboro road, and Harold L. Betz, 347 Lexington avenue.

Others fined were Dale Stotler, Ashland, $5 and costs, on a charge of failing to display an operator's license upon demand; Alfred Canankanp, Wooster, $5 and costs on a charge of failing to stop at a stop sign, and Jerome Eberhardt, Massillon, $10 and costs on a charge of obstructing free passage of a highway.

Forfeiting $25 bonds each were Nick Stazzone, Cleveland, and Fred R. Simpson, Dayton, both charged with speeding, and Mack Clingan, Cleveland, charged with failing to display an operator's license upon demand.

Cases continued until next Wednesday were those of Glenn D. Pore, 313 Superior street, who pleaded innocent to a charge of failing to stop at a stop sign, and Robert M. Moore, Shelby, who pleaded innocent to a charge of failing to stop within an assured clear distance.

MOVING TRUCK COSTS MAN $10

Gus Chokreff, Mansfield, R. D. 1, moved a truck he owns out of the path of his auto—but into the path of other vehicles. Result: He was fined $10 and costs and a car owned by Earl Miller, R. D. 3, was damaged.

State highway patrolmen said the truck was unlighted when Chokreff pushed it from a driveway. It rolled into the path of Miller's car.

He was fined on a charge of obstructing the free passage of a highway today in municipal court.

Municipal Court Judge H. H. Schettler said Chokreff "set some sort of a record" with his latest traffic violation. Judge Schettler said it marked the fifth time in nine months that Chokreff had been booked on traffic offenses.

The judge advised Chokreff to "find some less expensive and dangerous way to keep at peace with the law."

Claire Baker, booked on two charges of intoxication, was fined $5 and costs on one and $50 and costs on the other. The $50 fine is to be suspended if Baker leaves Mansfield and goes to the Soldiers' home at Sandusky.

With the appointment of executive, supply, and communications officers for Mansfield's Division 195, organized naval reserve, and the announcement that the division's first "dress" drill will be held next Tuesday, the training program for the 200-man division is proceeding "full speed ahead," officers said today.

Johnson was commissioned an ensign in March, 1942. After seven months in the Bureau of Ordnance he went on a "cook's tour" to seven different navy schools ranging from ordnance to anti-aircraft training.

A trip to the Aleutians in 1943 preceded his being commissioned to the USS Kwajalein which participated in the Pacific campaign with the Third fleet.

Released from the navy in 1945, Johnson came to Mansfield where he is employed as an engineer at The Ohio Brass company. He is married and has a son 19 months old. His hobbies are bridge and outdoor sports. He is a graduate of Case School of Applied Science, Cleveland.

Curtice was born in Akron and is a graduate of the University of Akron. He is married.

Beginning Jan. 14, the division will hold its drills in the Memorial building.

Brown's Coach Tells Story Of Winning Football Team

Mansfield Junior Chamber of Commerce members had "reserved seats" on the 50-yard last night as they viewed a film showing the Cleveland Browns professional football team win the 1946 All America football conference title from the New York Yankees in Cleveland stadium Dec. 22.

Bob Voigts, assistant coach of the Browns, provided a play-by-play account of the game and a description of pre-game planning and training. He spoke at a meeting in the Grace Episcopal church basement.

Voigts told how, in preparing for the championship game, the coaches had overcome several difficult factors—the psychological handicap of odds giving the Browns 14 to 18 points, record-breaking scores in earlier games, which might have built up overconfidence, and the physical factor of preparing for Ace Park, Yankee star, who played against Cleveland for the first time.

During a question and answer period which followed the movie, Voigts related the problems of signing players today when "guards are asking about $15,000 for the five month's season whereas back in 1942 they were getting about $2500."

At a short business meeting of the Jaycees, Ray Busch, social chairman, informed members that Phil Ebeling, former U. S. Chamber of Commerce president, would be guest speaker at the annual "Bosses' night" dinner to be held in the Mansfield-Leland hotel Jan. 22.

Bob Konstam, business manager of the Jaycees' publication, told of plans to expand it from its present mimeographed to a printed form.

LAND OWNERS ASKED TO PAY $1,773,478

First-Half Statements Go Out; Real Estate Levies Due By Feb. 20.

Collection of the largest yearly real estate tax charge in Richland county in about 15 years—of $1,773,478—began today when County Treasurer C. C. Payne mailed statements to some 20,000 taxpayers.

The 1946 tax bill, boosted by special levies and bond issues approved by the voters, includes $1,715,376 in real estate taxes and $58,102 in special assessments. It contains delinquent amounts totaling $60,422.

The charge compares with the 1945 bill which totaled $1,511,283, of which $1,447,113 was in real estate levies and $64,170 in special assessments. Delinquencies totaled $67,871 last year.

Deadline for payment of the taxes for the first half of the year is Feb. 20. After that penalties ranging up to 10 per cent apply.

"Property owners who do not receive statements soon are urged to file their addresses with this office so that corrections can be made. Responsibility for payment still exists whether statements are received or not," Payne said.

City Pays 57 Per Cent.

Of the $1,773,478 county charge, property owners in Mansfield will pay more than 57.5 per cent, Payne reported. The city's tax bill for 1946 amounts to $1,021,378 and compares with a total of $867,228 last year, he said.

The increase in the Mansfield rate is accounted for largely by the three-mill school levy passed by the voters last November and the two-tenths of a mill recreation levy.

Shelby's share of the 1946 charge is $132,720, or slightly more than $12,000 higher than the 1945 bill of $120,117. Bellville property owners will pay a total of $14,120 as compared with $11,738 last year.

There are some 40,000 parcels of land throughout the county on which taxes are due. Second-half collections will begin June 1 and end July 20, Payne reported.

18 GAMES ON MANSFIELD AREA BASKETBALL PROGRAM

Tyger Cagers Travel To New Philadelphia

Mansfield Senior high basketballers will be at a distinct height disadvantage when they travel to New Philadelphia tomorrow night.

On the basis of seasonal records, the Bengals of Coach Vern Hoffman should be favored to trip the Quakers. However, they will be facing a team that is habitually tough on its home court and one that has the tallest front line in Ohio high school circles.

New Philadelphia has won only one of nine games while Mansfield has won five and dropped four. The Quakers' front line has Paul Phipps (6-4), Lynn McGill (6-2) and Jerry Burke (6-5). Phipps is the lone returning letterman and has counted 88 points.

The Mansfield-New Philadelphia test headlines a list of 18 games involving area teams tomorrow night.

The Richland county league heads into its second round of competition with league-leading Butler playing at Lucas. Butler has averaged 45.9 points a game in winning seven straight. Lucas has won only two of six starts.

Second-place Bellville plays at Shiloh while Lexington goes to Ontario and Union to Plymouth. Lexington and Ontario are tied for third position.

In the first round, Butler defeated Lucas, 44 to 33; Bellville topped Shiloh, 41 to 22; Lexington drubbed Ontario, 45 to 32, and Plymouth beat Union, 34 to 27.

Don Stake, Lucas, leads the county scorers with 85 points, an average of 14.2 a game. Rollin Ford, Lexington, is second with 80 followed closely by Bob Hampton, Plymouth, with 79.

Union defeated Shiloh, 48 to 26, in the only league game this week. Dill and Hammett had 26 of the winners' points.

Cuff Stuff

By Fred Tharp

MORE REASONS why the Cleveland Browns are called the most amateur of the professional football teams were revealed last night by Bob Voigts, tackle coach of the All-America conference champs. . . . Voigts, former Northwestern athletic great, brought pictures of the Browns' playoff victory over the New York Yankees here last night for showing before the Mansfield Junior Chamber of Commerce at the Grace Episcopal church. . . . The offensive exploits of Otto Graham, Edgar "Special Delivery" Jones, Marion Motley and Dante Lavelli were widely heralded following the Browns' 14 to 7 victory. . . . However, the feature of the game, as shown by the films, was the tremendous defensive work of Long John Yonakor. . . . The 6-5, 230-pound ex-Notre Dame star, who plays only on defense, spilled several Yankee running threats as well as batting down two Ace Parker flat passes that might have meant plenty of trouble.

Voigts coached at Yale and Great Lakes before joining the Brown seven-man grid teaching staff. . . . He first met Paul Brown in July of 1944 at Great Lakes but did not serve under the former Massillon and Ohio State genius until this year. . . . One of Voigts' duties prior to each game was acting as a "mother" to the Cleveland gridders. . . . Just as in college, the Browns were required to hit the "hay" at 10:30 on nights before games. . . . Voigts would see that all of the Cleveland lads were in bed and then stand sentry duty in the hotel lobby to see that some of the men didn't act like boys and try to sneak out.

The Browns probably observed training rules closer than most of the pro outfits. . . . However, Captain Jim Daniell, tackle, did lose a bout with "John Barleycorn" the week before the playoff fuss and got expelled from the club. . . . That hurt muchly as only Lou Rymkus, Chet Adams and Ernie Blandin were left for tackle duty against the Yankees.

* * *

DISSA AND DATA: Reports are circulating that Ed McKeever, former Notre Dame and Cornell mentor, will succeed Frank Thomas at Alabama. . . . Speculation that Thomas would resign as coach and devote all his time to athletic director duties started last fall. . . . Thomas says that he has never discussed with McKeever the possibility of the latter coming to Alabama . . . Prexy Branch Rickey of the Brooklyn Dodgers says that Dixie Walker, idol of Flatbush, will be playing right field for the Bums again next season. . . . Rickey avers that Walker is a better ball player than at any time in his life and that none of the other 122 outfielders in the Dodger organization can hold a candle to him . . . They're calling the Illinois Whiz Kids of the basketball court the "fizz kids."

Tami Mauriello, who suffered a first round knockout by Champion Joe Louis last September but collected a sizeable purse, got paid at the rate of $158.72 a second in scoring a one-round knockout over James (Shamus) O'Brien, Philadelphia Negro, last night in Chicago. . . . The New York heavyweight threw less than a half dozen punches before O'Brien was counted out—and the scheduled 10-round bout was over in 63 seconds. . . . Mauriello's purse was $10,000. . . . Red Rolfe, former star third baseman with the New York Yankees, has converted a hapless crew into a determined, fighting quintet since he undertook to coach the Toronto Huskies of the Basketball Association of America some six fweeks ago. . . . In walloping the highly-regarded New York Knickerbockers 76-63 last night, the Huskies registered their sixth victory in nine starts since Rolfe took charge.

Get Your Tickets For Grid Banquet

Hurry! Hury! There's only two days left to purchase your tickets for the 11th and biggest News-Journal football banquet.

The gridiron jubilee is scheduled for Jan. 13 at the North Lake park coliseum with nimble-witted Bo McMillin as the guest speaker. The salty Bo is the guiding genius of Indiana University pigskin antics.

Men, women and children can attend the fete honoring the football teams of Madison and Mansfield Senior high schools. Tickets can be purchased at Tawse pharmacy, Brown's drug store, City News, both high schools, News-Journal and Sutter's for only $2.

Shelby Takes Undisputed 'Y' League Lead

Shelby Merchants remained the only undefeated team in the YMCA Commercial B league after last night's four games. The Merchants walloped Dominion Electric, 52 to 15.

The Merchants led at the quarters, 15-4, 27-6 and 44-11. Sands, pivotman, paced the victors with 22 points.

Ohio Public Service was jarred from the unbeaten ranks by Phalanx fraternity, 37 to 28. Phalanx led all the way. Hager led Phalanx with 13 tallies.

Bowen scored 20 points to lead the Westinghouse quintet to victory over Mansfield Tire, 33 to 27. The Westies led at the half, 13-10.

Swisher and Bradfort accounted for all of Mansfield Plating's 23 points, as it dropped a close game to Brodie Cigar Store, 27 to 23.

Five Pro Bouts On Armory Card

Plenty of ring fireworks are promised on the professional fight show tonight at the Mansfield Armory at 8:15.

The 30-round card should produce its share of kayoes as many of the clouters on the card have shown knockout tendencies. It is the first pro program booked in Mansfield since the VFW Christmas fights and four of the winning principals on that kayo-studded show will be in the ring tonight.

Joe Brown, the Louisville larruper, who joined Rex Reese's tin ear gang several months ago, battles clever, hard-hitting Eddie Elton, Akron, on the ten-round main event. Brown put Joe Ceryak, Cleveland heavyweight, into the land of nod on the VFW card.

Brown has cooled five of his six pro opponents, but Elton will be something else again. Brown, normally a light-heavy, has been dusting off the easy to hit heavies in his pro goes but Elton is a fast moving middleweight with an impressive record.

The Akron ace has won 11 straight pro fights, including six by the KO route. Elton won 55 of 62 amateur tussles and added the Philippine Golden Gloves crown while in service. Just before joining up with Uncle Sam, Elton decisioned Sampson Powell, National AAU champ.

Joltin' Joe pared four pounds off his lanky frame to meet the weight for the battle with Elton.

Dick Alexander and Gale Frye, Mansfield, and Johnny Bryant, Massillon, are the other clouters who recorded kayoes on the VFW program. Bryant is subbing for Frankie Fare in the semi-windup against Alexander.

Bryant knocked out Don Neal, Columbus, in the first round of the VFW program and in his other Mansfield appearance lost a close decision to Alexander. The latter has rolled up eight straight pro victories, with Bryant giving him the toughest way to go. Both are welterweights.

Frye, in his only Mansfield bout, kayoed Johnny Ross, Massillon, in the fourth round. Frye goes against speedy Wally Barkley, Massillon, in the other six-rounder. It will be Barkley's second Armory fight. He lost to Lou Williams, Dayton, in an overweight affair three months ago.

Promoters Rex Reese and Sam Miller are unveiling a new heavyweight find in one of the four-rounders. He is Chuck Wiggins, local lad, who packs a lot of authority in both mitts. Wiggins is a southpaw but his trainers are teaching him to lead with either hand.

Wiggins battles Johnny Streaters, Canton heavyweight.

Roger Rucker, a light-heavy from the Reese crew of ringmen, makes his local debut against Jimmy Davis, Canton.

Dick Jones and Bill Harry will referee the bouts.

Tucker Gets 'Am' Honor

NEW YORK —(AP)— Arnold Tucker, field general of Army's undefeated football team, today held amateur sport's greatest honor for 1946—the James S. Sullivan award.

Tucker, 22-year old first classman from Miami, Fla., won the distinction by the closest vote ever recorded in the trophy's 17-year history.

With 597 points he nosed out Johnny Lujack, Notre Dame quarterback with 566 points, and swimmer Bill Smith of Honolulu with 546, to bring the Sullivan award to West Point for the second consecutive year.

The 1945 prize went to Felix (Doc) Blanchard, Army's linecracking fullback.

Keller Gets 30, Yanks Win, 40-14

Forward Keller scored 30 points to lead the Yanks in beating the Indians, 40 to 14, in the Junior Optimist league at the Friendly House last night. In the other contest, the Cards edged the Giants, 18 to 17.

Muskie Cager Nets 27 With Hand In Cast

Muskingum's six-foot, four-inch center, Bill Ruby of New Concord, had his right arm in a cast last night but netted 27 points with his left hand against Marietta as the Muskies notched their fifth Ohio conference victory 84 to 59.

Ruby tops the conference in individual scoring with 123 points in five games. In two non-conference games Muskingum lost, Ruby was held to a total of 13 points.

In other Wednesday night games Western Michigan college overcame a halftime deficit of three points to whip Bowling Green at Kalamazoo 53 to 42; Baldwin Wallace never had a chance in losing to Ohio Wesleyan 71 to 48; Youngstown lost a home game to Western Reserve 51 to 41; Defiance beat Wilberforce 61 to 55, and Rio Grande was outclassed by Ashland, Ky., Junior college 53 to 30.

Demchuk Pins Challenger

Johnny Demchuk used his famous rolling toe hold to retain his title as junior heavyweight championship over Texan Ken Mayne at the Armory last night.

Demchuk took the first fall in 20 minutes and Mayne came back quickly to pin the champ in two minutes and 55 seconds. Mayne used a combination of flying tackles and body slams. Demchuk was even quicker in pinning the Texan in two minutes to keep the belt in the third fall.

The preliminary match between Jack Vansky and John Cretoria came to a draw as time ran out. Vansky took the first fall in 18 minutes with a body smother and Cretoria took the second fall with his own fashion of the jackknife. His time was also 18 minutes.

NCAA Schools Adopt Rigid Athletic Codes

NEW YORK—(AP)—The 252 member colleges of the National Collegiate Athletic association were under moral obligation today to abide by the group's new-drafted "purity code" and to start cleaning their athletic houses immediately.

Actually, the set of five principles governing the conduct of intercollegiate athletics which were approved at the concluding session of the NCAA yesterday do not go into effect until the next annual meeting in 1948.

Between now and then the code with its implementation clause providing sanctions against nonconformist schools in the form of a schedule boycott, will be written into the constitution by a committee appointed for that purpose.

"This will give the colleges a year of grace to get cleaned up and adjust their conference rules, where necessary, to conform to our rules," explained Prof. Karl E. Leib, Iowa's faculty chairman of athletics who was elected president for 1947.

Also referred to the constitutional revision committee was a resolution offered by Col. William Couper of Virginia Military Institute which would limit colleges to ten varsity football games a season and prohibit participation in post-season games.

Couper's anti-bowl proposal and the anti-recruiting provisions of the purity code met with vigorous opposition on the convention floor. The other code provisions, including one limiting financial aid to athletes to tuition, were adopted by unanimous votes.

The southern colleges and particularly the Southeastern conference which admits to paying its athletes through open subsidization, went along with the majority of the convention in approving all the principles except the recruiting clause.

Most southern colleges and a few others, including Fordham, declared that the recruiting paragraph was poorly worded and not practical under certain sectional conditions.

The decision to table the anti-bowl resolution and refer it to the committee, followed a lengthy discussion during which it was pointed out that the long-established bowl games have become an accepted part of the collegiate program.

The convention unanimously adopted the resolution opposing gambling. The action calls for the naming of a committee and puts the NCAA on record as agreeing to consider the organization of a "clean sports federation." It calls for stronger law enforcement and suggests that newspapers refrain from printing odds or probable winners and that coaches and athletic directors be forbidden from making predictions.
